- Mesotherapy needles are very thin- this is done in order to reduce pain during the procedure. Outside diameter size is indicated by the letter G (on the Gauge scale). As a rule, meso needles with sizes from 27G to 34G are used for meso, the most popular sizes are 30G and 32G.

Effect

BienCANNULA is a tool for painless administration of products, minimizing trauma to the skin in the injection area and blood loss, allowing doctors to achieve more accurate and patient satisfying results. The wide internal lumen allows injection with the least resistance. The nanocannulas are made of stainless steel (SUS34) using micronized ultra-fine grinding technology, making them flexible and durable.

- Ultra-thin walls and micro-polishing of their surface - less tissue resistance during the procedure
- Injections are less painful for the patient - less stress during the procedure
- Widened inner diameter for insertion of the tightest fillers
- Marking along the length of the cannula to control the depth of its insertion into the tissue

Benefits of BienCANNULA

BOOM SERIES [6, 7, 10]

- This thread is composed of six fine-structure threads, forming a multicomponent thread.
- Creates an effective volume. (filling nasolabial folds and wrinkles)
- The BOOM Series has many different types of threads, such as 6, 7, and 10.
- The different types of threads disperse the pulling force, making it more stable.
- Due to the multiple threads are inserted into the tissue, it can effectively cover a large area volume.

THREADS SPECIFICATION

23G 60mm | 23G 38mm

Nano

- It is an exquisite cog thread despite its thinness.
- The thread is designed with an outer layer that is twisted in a spiral and has multidirectional cogs. These cogs provide guidance for a thin, sharp needle with converging cogs. The thread is divided into two halves referred to as lifting and fixing which work together to create the maximum effect on tissues.
- The use of a thin cannula results in improved skin tone.
- The USP size of the needle is 5-0 and it is constructed with a screw-type outside the needle. This type of design ensures a secure fit, as well as offering precise control when maneuvering around delicate tissue. This product is good for using on thinner skinned areas.

THREADS SPECIFICATION

25G 60mm | 25G 38mm

COG MESH

- Combination of mesh and cog.
- The thread insertion procedure is the same as for the cannula type serrated thread.
- Threads are braided in a tube shape.
- Cells migrate through the holes and produce collagen formation. The collagen helps to strengthen the skin and keep it looking young.
- Soft tissue and collagen fill in the spaces between the mesh of the dermis and SMAS, forming a secure bond to hold these two layers together.
- Helps give volume and lifting effects at the same time, while still being lightweight and easy to move around.

THREADS SPECIFICATION

19G 100mm | 18G 100mm

TWIN SCREW

- Two threads are twisted together to form a spiral around the needle.
- Once the needle and thread have been set in the fabric, the guide needle can be removed, allowing for the two twisted threads to unravel and thereby affording additional volume.
- Effective in improving wrinkles and skin tone.
- The twist makes it more effective.

CLL

- The conductor cog is securely held in place for an extended period of time due to long threads that extend around the entire circumference of the plane. These threads provide a 360-degree hold, ensuring that the conductor cog remains firmly fixed in its original position.
- Effective for creating a facial contour.

Mesh Cover

- Made with mesh type threads.
- The use of excellent drainage is essential for making corrections to nasolabial and labial folds, restoring the oval line along the edge of the lower jaw, and sharpening the mandibular line. This drainage is detailed in its application to ensure that these aesthetic goals are achieved with precision.
- Soft tissue and collagen fill in the spaces between the mesh of the dermis and SMAS, forming a secure bond to hold these two layers together.
- Sixteen threads are intricately braided together to form a tube shape.
- The threads stay in place once inserted, maintaining the distinctive tube structure.

MOLDING [M1, M2]

- Combination of mesh and cog to create a complex, intricate material.
- The thread insertion procedure is the same as for the cannula-type serrated thread.
- The gap between each cog is 2 mm, which is much narrower compared to other companies – a testament to our commitment to excellence!
- A non-heating processing method was employed, resulting in a surface that is extremely clean. Even under magnification using a microscope, no burrs can be detected.
- Powerful and long-lasting effects.
- The molding cog is shaped in a compression type through a process known as shape processing, which involves tightly squeezing the threads.
- Molding cogs possess a tensile strength that is three times greater than cutting cogs, thus providing a higher level of durability. This enhanced resilience helps to prevent the breakage of thread after the procedure has been completed through facial muscle movement.
